

Pre-Attack Phase Survey

We would like to start this attack phase by asking a few questions about setup and the current state of your servers and services! This is to help gauge the performance of the servers and to guarantee the network is ready for all the fun that is soon to come!

What table is your team at?

There should be a table 'letter' near where your team is located. If you can send that letter to us we will have a better idea of where you are at during the competition. If you are between two letters, send them both.

Did your team encounter any major issues during setup?

We would love to know if there was any part of the setup phase or scenario that tripped you guys up. Are you still experiencing issues in those areas?

Are there any abnormal problems with your servers this morning?

We want to know if your servers are behaving noticeably slower than normal, or if there are any major issues that you are experiencing now that you did not have last night.

How many team members have shown up?

Who has shown up already, and who will be coming late?

For those who have shown up on your team, what size T-shirts do you wear?

We need to know this... for reasons...

Are you having fun yet?

If you don't answer yes to this please explain why!
